Health Tip...

A Spectrum of Good Nutrition

Why should you eat a rainbow of colourful produce every day?

- Each colour is packed with different vitamins, minerals and phytonutrients that work together to help fight disease and keep your body in shape.*

Lutein is the yellow pigment found in corn and is part of the carotenoid family, which is abundantly available in yellow, orange and red fruits and vegetables. Curcumin is found primarily in turmeric, the vibrant yellow pigment found in many curry spice blends. Besides adding a distinct yellow-ish hue to cooked stews and curries, it also has antioxidant and anti-inflammatory properties.

Healthy Recipe...

1. Bring a large pot of water to a boil. Drop the pasta into the water and cook according to package directions, drain, reserving some of the pasta water. Toss the pasta with a splash of oil and set aside. Meanwhile, remove the kernels from the corn with a sharp knife.
2. Melt the butter in a large skillet, add the corn kernels, garlic, peppers and turmeric. Cook, stirring, until the vegetables are tender. Add milk, 3 tablespoons of the Parmesan, 3/4 teaspoon salt and 1/2 teaspoon pepper. Bring to a gentle simmer, cook until slightly thickened (like the consistency of heavy cream), about 5 minutes.
3. Add the cooked pasta, lemon zest and 1/4 teaspoon salt. Gently toss the pasta in the sauce (thin out with reserved pasta water if desired). Sprinkle each with the remaining Parmesan and some black pepper. Serve with lemon wedges.

Environment Sustainability

We at DPSM believe that, practicing environmental sustainability in schools is crucial for fostering a culture of responsibility and stewardship among students. School plays a pivotal role in shaping the attitudes and behaviors of future generations towards the environment.

One effective way to promote sustainability is through integrating eco-friendly practices into daily operations, such as reducing waste, conserving energy and water, and promoting recycling.

Implementing environmental education programs and initiatives can also raise awareness about pressing environmental issues and empower students to take action.

As advocates for sustainability, DPSM encourages all students to utilize materials that are plastic-free on the 1st Friday of every month and also as a general practice.
